Christian Hospital Auxiliary awards scholarships; makes donation to TEAM

The Christian Hospital Auxiliary recently awarded three $1,000 scholarships and a $1,500 donation to TEAM.

Congratulations to Jazmine Davis, daughter of Tammy Davis of the Christian Hospital Child Development Center. Jazmine will major in biology at Southeast Missouri State and would like to attend Washington University School of Medicine, with the goal of becoming a gynecologist. She considers women's health one of the most important issues in America.

Congratulations to Ashleigh Hampton, daughter of Pam Hampton, CH Radiation Oncology nurse. Ashleigh is a graduate of Rosati-Kain High School and she will attend Truman State University in the fall to study nursing. It has been Ashleigh's dream since fourth grade to be a nurse and she is especially interested working in the future at St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital.

Congratulations to Lisa Nettelhorst, daughter of Tom and JoAnne Nettelhorst, who respectively work in CH maintenance and Northwest HealthCare registration. Lisa is a graduate of Incarnate Word Academy and will study speech pathology and audiology at the University of Illinois-Edwardsville. She looks forward to working with children and adults of all ages to help them both mentally and physically.

The Auxiliary also awarded $1,500 to TEAM (The Emergency Assistance Ministry), which provides food, cleaning supplies and personal care items to more than 9,000 people annually in the Hazelwood/Florissant area. The donation was made from proceeds from this year's annual Auxiliary Charity Ball.
